

OUR COMMITMENT

Keeping Our Residents Safe Now and Into the Future

Aegis Living is redefining how we care for and protect our residents' health and happiness during this pandemic. We have implemented a companywide strategy across all aspects of our organization, from leadership and operations to nutrition and care. As we move forward, we are drawing on our 23 years of experience caring for seniors to lead during these challenging times.

Coronavirus Advisory Council. →

Formed a council of leading physicians and experts in epidemiology, immunology, geriatrics, psychology, data science, and naturopathy to leverage their knowledge and latest findings to shape the future of our resident care.

Head of Infection Control.

Created a senior leadership role to ensure infection control measures are a top priority in every community and assess emerging technologies and techniques to keep our residents safe.

Research Partnership.

Launched a research partnership with world renowned Fred Hutch Cancer Research Center in Washington studying the virus, identifying transmission insights and containment best practices.

Expanded Nursing and Training

Increased nursing coverage to be sure we meet all resident needs. Add enhanced staff training program to continue teaching infection controls

Environmental Enhancements.

Introducing layers of protection for a healthier environment, including air filtration and purification systems and commercial sanitation technology to kill the virus.

Nutrition.

Working with nutritionists and dieticians to create a new menu of nutritional options and supplements to boost immunity and help improve overall health.

Family Link. →

Launching our Family Link app to give families peace of mind with a window into their loved one's daily life with photos and activity logs of how they spend their time at the community.

Connecting Families. →

Helping our families stay connected with our epidemiologist-approved outdoor living room to share time safely together behind plexiglass-wrapped panels. And our chat suites make it easy for seniors to chat virtually with family members.

Care Along the Acuity Spectrum

At Aegis Living, the care and attention that we devote to our residents is as unique as they are. From joy-filled activities to nutritional meal plans and customized assistance, we offer one-of-a-kind care based on the medical needs, unique interests, comforts, and preferences of each resident. This type of personalized care takes dedication—delivering what residents need, when they need it and adjusting services to allow our residents to age in place with seamless transitions.
